

Soul Food?

Evang. Rose Doctor,
Soul Food Team

People seem to use food as a comfort item. Also, if you offer people free food, you will always get a crowd at an event. So food is also a survival item, necessary to sustain our natural life.

Soul food is necessary to sustain our human spiritual health and well-being. This series a great tool in this spiritual warfare we can use to help sustain us and share with our family and friends to encourage and build our relationship with our Creator. It can be used by our children to give them a foundation to grow on.

It can get groups together to enjoy the life lessons and test their biblical knowledge in a fun way, creating learning and lasting memories, helping us to communicate in an age where people have literally stopped talking and spending quality time together. While it may be essential to abstain from food at times, we are reminded in this Soul Food Break*Fast edition to “break the fast” from God’s Word—by ending any long stretches of spiritual hunger and starting our day by feeding our spirit first. Soul Food is a must have.
