

Introduction - Faith & Foresight

“Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.” — Hebrews 11:1 (KJV)

Faith and foresight are meant to walk hand-in-hand in our journey with God. Faith helps us trust what we cannot yet see, and foresight helps us prepare for what God has promised—even before He shows us all the details. Together, they invite us to follow God’s lead when the road ahead still looks uncertain.

Hebrews 11:1 tells us, “Now faith is confidence in what we hope for and assurance about what we do not see.” Faith lifts our eyes past the present moment and anchors our hearts in God’s truth instead of our changing circumstances. Foresight—spiritual insight shaped by God’s perspective—then guides the decisions we make today so they line up with what God is doing tomorrow.

Scripture gives us clear examples of people who lived with both faith and foresight. Noah built the ark long before the first raindrop fell (Genesis 6). Abraham obeyed God’s call and left home without knowing his destination (Hebrews 11:8). Joseph stored grain during years of abundance because he trusted God’s warning about the famine ahead (Genesis 41). Their lives show a consistent pattern: faith listens to God, and foresight gets ready for His plan.

In this study, we’ll see that walking with God takes more than belief—it takes vision grounded in faith. As we grow in spiritual foresight, we stop merely reacting to what’s happening around us and start responding to what God has spoken within us. Faith gives us the boldness to move forward; foresight helps us move with wisdom and purpose.

Breakfast Edition Month 3 - Lesson 1: Rahab

Faith That Took Action

Theme: Faith & Foresight

Background Text: Joshua 2:1–21; 6:22–25

Key Verse: Hebrews 11:31 (WEB)

“By faith, Rahab the prostitute didn’t perish with those who were disobedient, having received the spies in peace.”

Faith that acts before the promise is visible.

Appetizer – The Risk That Changed Her Life, Josh 2:1, 3–4

Joshua the son of Nun secretly sent two men out of Shittim as spies, saying, “Go, view the land, including Jericho.” They went and came into the house of a prostitute whose name was Rahab, and slept there.

³ Jericho’s king sent to Rahab, saying, “Bring out the men who have come to you, who have entered into your house; for they have come to spy out all the land. ⁴ The woman took the two men and hid them. Then she said, “Yes, the men came to me, but I didn’t know where they came from.

Rahab had to choose: stay safe with the crowd, or step out in risky obedience toward God. Her decision wasn’t just about her; it affected her whole family. She did not know the God of the Israelites but she knew of what he had done in and for His people and that was enough for her to regard them higher than her culture and her king.

Faith acted before the promise was visible. She chose courage in the face of death.

Reflection Question

Has your faith ever been tested in a way that demanded courage before you saw the results?

Main Course

Bite 1 – The Risk That Redefined a Life, Josh 2:8–11a

⁸ Before they had lain down, she came up to them on the roof. ⁹ She said to the men, “I know that Yahweh has given you the land, and that the fear of you has fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land melt away before you.

¹⁰ For we have heard how Yahweh dried up the water of the Red Sea before you, when you came out of Egypt; and what you did to the two kings of the Amorites, who were beyond the Jordan, to Sihon and to Og, whom you utterly destroyed. ¹¹ As soon as we had heard it, our hearts melted, and there wasn’t any more spirit in any man, because of you: for Yahweh your God, he is God

Faith comes by hearing—and Rahab proves it. She believed without ever seeing the Red Sea part or the Amorite kings fall. Testimonies of God’s power traveled farther than Israel’s feet, and those stories were enough to birth faith in her heart. Rahab wasn’t an Israelite. She didn’t grow up in church or know all the laws. But she heard what God had done—and believed it.

Her belief in a God she had never met was strong enough to inspire disobedience in danger. She feared (reverenced) God of Israel over man.

Reflection Questions

What’s one story (from the Bible or real life) that has strengthened your faith in God?

Bite 2 – When Faith Meets Action, Josh 2:12–14, 17-18

¹² Now therefore, please swear to me by Yahweh, since I have dealt kindly with you, that you also will deal kindly with my father’s house, and give me a true sign; ¹³ and that you will save alive my father, my mother, my brothers, and my sisters, and all that they have, and will deliver our lives from death.”

¹⁴ The men said to her, “Our life for yours, if you don’t talk about this business of ours; and it shall be, when Yahweh gives us the land, that we will deal kindly and truly with you.”

¹⁷ The men said to her, “We will be guiltless of this your oath which you’ve made us to swear.

¹⁸ Behold, when we come into the land, tie this line of scarlet thread in the window which you used to let us down. Gather to yourself into the house your father, your mother, your brothers, and all your father’s household.

Rahab’s temptation was the King and his men, her culture -instead of going with what she knew, she went with what was right. It wasn’t the popular choice, but it was a life changing one! Rahab didn’t just believe;

she made a covenant. The scarlet rope became a sign: when judgment came, her house would be marked by faith and spared.

Her faith wasn't passive; it was tied to obedience.

Reflection Question

What “scarlet rope” of obedience have you hung out as proof of your trust in God?

Bite 3 – Faith That Rewrites the Future, Josh 6:22–23, 25 (paraphrased)

²²Joshua said... “Go into the prostitute’s house, and bring out from there the woman, and all that she has, as you swore to her.” ²⁴So the young men... brought out Rahab, her father, her mother, her brothers, and all that she had... ²⁵ Joshua saved Rahab... and she lives in the middle of Israel to this day...

Rahab’s faith saved her whole household. While we could be tempted to ‘park it right there’ ...on the fact that she made sure her whole family benefited and avoided selfish acts...her story doesn’t stop but transitions from there! Later, she would be included in the family line that led to Jesus. Not bad for someone everyone else would have written off.

Faith not only saves—it transforms. Rahab went from outcast to insider, from pagan prostitute to part of God’s covenant people, and eventually into the family line of the Messiah Himself. Sometimes, the least likely person carries the greatest impact.

Reflection Question

Who might be saved, inspired, or transformed by your act of faith today?

Dessert – Faith That Didn’t Wait, Hebrews 11:31

“By faith, Rahab the prostitute didn’t perish with those who were disobedient, having received the spies in peace.”

Rahab could’ve waited until things were safer, clearer, or more convenient-but procrastination had one problem-there was no guarantee. Instead, she moved when God gave her the chance. There is no perfect or “good” or “ideal” time to accept salvation, the best time is NOW.

God didn’t highlight Rahab’s past to shame her but to magnify His grace. Her label didn’t stop her legacy. Faith rewrote her ending—and it can rewrite yours too.

Reflection:

Write one sentence of gratitude to God for giving you a future that's bigger than your past:

To-Go Box

- Faith hears what God has done and believes what He will do.
- Rahab's courage shows that obedience in a single moment can shift an entire family's destiny.
- Your history does not disqualify you; your response to God's invitation defines you.

Carry this truth:

Faith acts first; foresight trusts God with the outcome.

Don't let fear of judgment, failure, or your past silence your obedience. Like Rahab, your courage today can redeem generations tomorrow.

Word Study

 - Scarlet Rope – A sign of covenant and protection, echoing the Passover blood on the doorposts and pointing forward to the blood of Christ.
 - Foresight – Spiritual anticipation rooted in trust that God is already working beyond what we see.

1. Rahab was born an Israelite woman.
2. The scarlet rope represented obedience and covenant.
3. Rahab acted only out of fear, not faith.
4. Rahab’s faith saved her entire family.

Author’s Testimony

I once faced my own test of faith. I needed funds to remodel a home for veterans in need. Quotes came in as high as $30,000, and my account was empty. But I prayed, “Lord, You know my needs, Jehovah-Jireh, my provider.” Within a week, God sent two unexpected renters who paid exactly $12,000—the remaining amount I needed to complete the work.

Faith made a way I could not see. Like Rahab, I learned that obedience, no matter how small, can open doors for God’s miraculous provision. Father, help each reader to boldly break away from things that are holding them back and embrace the opportunities to grow in your and walk into their purpose, in Jesus name amen. 🙏
